

Ambassador to Education Award

Mardi Davis, RHIT

OHIMA and the HIM profession are grateful to all those persons who work tirelessly every day to provide students with meaningful opportunities to experience Health Information Management in real-life. The Ambassador to Education Award honors an outstanding clinical practice site supervisor or other HIM professional who has contributed significantly to Ohio's Health Information Management and Health Information Technology programs.

The recipient of the 2010 OHIMA Ambassador to Education award is Mardi Davis, BS, RHIT, CSTR, CAISS.

Mardi is the Trauma Registrar at St. Vincent Mercy Medical Center in Toledo, Ohio. She is also an instructor in the associate and baccalaureate degree programs in northwest Ohio at Owens Community College and the University of Toledo, respectively. She maintains an active advisory board membership on HIT/HIM college programs, and in service to the regional and state associations, she is currently the president of NWOHIMA.

Mardi takes 3 students each semester for Professional Practicum Experience. To quote one of her supporters, "Mardi has an ability to convey potential opportunities in a unique and interesting way that draws student attention and admiration (along with educator appreciation.)" And another quote, "Her sense of humor engages her students and her stories and experiences entertain as well as educate. She has a wonderful rapport with people of all ages, especially children."

In addition to working with students, Mardi also works with educators to offer opportunities that will broaden the scope of work for students on professional practicum experience.

We are pleased to recognize Mardi Davis as our 2010 Ambassador to Education Award recipient. Please join me in congratulating Mardi as one of Ohio's outstanding HIM professionals.
